Make sure you follow the correct quote format when doing this. The exact values of quotes can be determined using the quote calculator here. Do not try to use quotes for US and European Union currencies. If you want to use ECN for trading, please make sure you apply the correct quote format, for example see here where you can set the quote format for sending or receiving quotes and check it before you start. Consider using ECMT as part of the standard Volume Quote (DCF) calculation + additional option change risk, i.e. you can see the full range in addition to the list of standard optional risks. We recommend that you prepare for these risks in advance and take them into account when determining the amount of margin. They depend on the specific option class that you are using at the moment. Read more in the section Brokers Sale of offers through the Rx4you platform Buy futures through the platform Get there by car/bus If your company's pricing includes legal considerations regarding the details of the offer, pricing can help. Solutions such as e-money and e-auction can help you establish longer, open and enhanced communication, so to get along with customers, be strict with legal aspects and answer customer questions electronically, make sharp distinctions between commercial proposals and a sentence like "What should I do?". This will help you gain trust and gain time. 15 Amplify Feedback On fig. Exhibit 9.1 shows how you can do this, on the one hand by providing customers with convenient answers to their questions, and on the other hand, using feedback from them and always remembering that many of its employees receive from colleagues. 16 Colleagues at the consulting firm Third Way came to the conclusion that they could not establish effective operations until they provided regular feedback to their employees. However, in order to do this, they had to develop several tests. First, they began to distribute sheets of paper with typical questions and tests to employees. They also put some labels on these sheets. In theory, if employees answer these questions regularly, they will know the answers. However, in practice, it turned out that no one answered a single question correctly. So they had to spend a lot of effort to create a test suite and create a lot of labels for the answers that they distributed to the employees. These tests were included in the current ones, not only at the moment, but also for the next days, weeks and months. In this way, they could check daily how employees responded to tests. 17 We recommend that you take such training (whether you have such experience or not). Traffic Analyze your traffic. You can use Google Analytics to understand how efficient you are. However, because it is based on in-store purchase data, you cannot cover the multitude of items you sell or purchase. 18
