Play video content EXCLUSIVE MAY 2017 TMZSports.com A member of the U.S. wrestling team was freaking out after his teammate got some snow on his head during practice... and possibly DQ'd in their opening match against Mexico. College Wrestling USA is the club where 7th-grader Kameron Wolfe trains in Tonasket, WA (and if you live there, you know the snow and rain are usually incessant). As you might expect, the wrestlers have to train in "storm conditions," so when another wrestler had a little too much snow on his head -- or possibly a ski helmet -- Kameron was really upset. And you know who made him even MORE mad? The ref. Kameron's parents were understandably fuming. They took to Facebook to say, "Our 7th grade son e79caf774b
