SUMMIT COUNTY - May 5 marks the commencement of the 2018 election season in Colorado. While ballot initiatives, candidate forums, county and state fairs, fundraisers and a long list of phone banks and letter-writing events are always part of the election season,

May marks a specific moment. Election day, June 26, is now just 90 days away. While residents will be voting in the State House and Congressional races, they will also have a chance to vote on ballot initiatives and local, county and state initiatives and referenda.

“The State Legislature will be holding an election in late May to fill their seats for the 2018 session. This election will be the first legislative election to occur during the presidential primary month. During this election, voters will also be asked to weigh in on a number of initiatives and referenda. Learn more about ballot topics and issues here: explained Summit County Clerk and Recorder Stacy Davis. However, voters can vote to change redistricting in the State House and Congressional districts. The Colorado map has been redrawn in accordance to the U.S. census, and the congressional and state legislative map will be changed as soon as the vote is certified. Redistricting is part of the Article V process. “The U.S. Census Bureau has sent to us a new map showing new district lines which we must send to the Secretary of State in Denver. The Secretary of State will then send this back to us for verification. We have until the end of May to send this to the Secretary of State. The Secretary of State will then send this back to us for certification. We will have to wait until July to hear what district we will be in. We will need to wait until after the election to know which district we 6d1f23a050
