Serial tunneling will allow the Aegis Padlock to remain in the Admin mode and will allow data to be accessed and recovered. Serial tunneling can be done in two ways: 1) In Windows, open the Devices and Printers dialog, select the device that is attached to the USB port and click the "Device Properties" button. Go to the "Advanced" tab and check "Serial Port Settings." Under "Ser. Com Port:" select "Use a different port" and enter "com1". Press "Next". Press "Test Ports" and test the attached device to make sure it is working. Press "OK". Close the "Device Properties" dialog. If the device is still locked with the windows message box appears while a serial number will show up next to the current password input. If you are still locked click ok. If you have entered the correct password the device will be locked. A successful serial password will unlock the device and give you access to all the drive and data. If the device appears locked as shown below, please follow the link in the email and the "Administrator Mode" will be activated allowing you to use the device.
